

EXL appoints Bhupender Singh as President and Head of International Growth Markets

May 12, 2026

NEW YORK, May 12, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- EXL [NASDAQ: EXLS], a global data and AI company, announced the appointment of Bhupender Singh as president and head of international growth markets. He will report to Rohit Kapoor, chairman and chief executive officer of EXL and will be an executive committee member.

In this role, Singh will serve as the head of international growth markets for EXL and take the lead in accelerating growth for the EMEA and APAC regions. He will be responsible for architecting go-to-market strategies for diverse economies, uniting cross-cultural teams under a single high-performance banner and establishing EXL as the premier data and AI partner in these markets.

"Bhupender is a proven leader with a rare combination of scale, strategic vision and operational excellence," said Kapoor. "He has led large organizations with billions in revenue across complex markets, consistently delivering industry-leading performance. As EXL continues to rapidly grow and expand its leadership position in data and AI, Bhupender's deep international expertise and track record of transformative results will be a tremendously valuable asset."

"I have long been an admirer of EXL, the way it weaves together deep domain expertise, advanced analytics and AI to drive meaningful business outcomes for its clients," said Singh. "EXL is at an inflection point, with the capabilities, the talent and the momentum to become a leader in data and AI across international markets. I am energized by that opportunity and excited to help EXL seize it."

Bhupender brings more than 25 years of senior leadership experience across global technology-enabled services. Most recently, he was the president and Co-CEO of Teleperformance SE (Euronext: TEP) a leader in global business services. During his six-year tenure, he oversaw a business that spanned 93 countries, served over 2,000 corporate clients, and helped deliver revenues exceeding €10 billion. Prior to Teleperformance, Bhupender was the CEO of Intelenet Global Services, a business process management company where he helped deliver 60%+ organic revenue growth and more than double EBITDA.

Singh holds an MBA from the Indian Institute of Management Ahmedabad and a Bachelor of Technology from the Indian Institute of Technology Mumbai.
